Risk vs Return

1	2	3	4	5	6	7
---	---	---	---	---	---	---

- Risk vs return is based on past performance and is not a reliable indicator of future performance.
- Category 2 classification is based on historic fluctuations in the fund price and the markets.
- Category 1 classification does not mean that the investment is risk-free.
- Risk classifications are not a target or guarantee and may change over time.

The risk classification of the fund may not take account of all risks. The prospectus contains a detailed description of all potential risks. The following risks do not impact directly on this classification, but may nonetheless be relevant to the fund:

- Counterparty risks:
The fund may conduct various transactions with counterparties. If a counterparty goes bankrupt, they may be unable to satisfy the fund's outstanding claims or to satisfy them in full.
- Credit risks:
The fund may invest some of its assets in bonds or money market instruments or sight deposits. If the issuer or the counterparty to the position goes bankrupt, the position may lose all or part of its value.
- Liquidity risks:
It may not be possible to sell an asset on the market or at a market price due to unexpected market trends or temporary suspension of trading. The fund may invest some of its assets in paper which is not traded on a stock exchange or similar market. That may increase the risk of the redemption of units being suspended.
- Operational risks:
The fund may be the victim of fraud or other criminal activity. It may sustain losses as a result of misunderstanding or error by management company staff or external third parties or suffer the impact of extreme events such as a natural catastrophe.
- Depository risks:
Assets held by a depository may be at risk of loss due to bankruptcy, negligence or misconduct on the part of the depository or a sub-depository.
- Derivative risks:
The fund only uses derivatives for the purpose stated above under "investment policy". Although they may offer the chance of a greater return, there is also a greater risk of loss. Using derivatives for hedging purposes may also reduce the chances of making a return on the fund.
